An Informal History of LEAVE A LEGACY® of Miami-Dade County

LEAVE A LEGACY® started as an initiative of the Columbus Planned Giving Council, a member of the National Partnership for Philanthropic Planning. Each local chapter of PPP, including the Partnership for Philanthropic Planning of Miami-Dade County, is a nonprofit organization comprised of planned giving officers, other nonprofit development officers, and other "allied professionals" such as CPAs, CLUs, CFPs, trust officers and of course, attorneys who share the goal of promoting planned giving.

The Partnership for Philanthropic Planning of Miami-Dade County hosts monthly meeting at which experts address various legal, financial, ethical, developmental and other aspects of planned giving. We also disseminate information to the nonprofit community and general public.

The LEAVE A LEGACY® initiative is a great example of something developed at the "grassroots" level which caught on and spread like (pick your metaphor: wildfire, mushrooms, acne, etc.) crazy, and which benefits everyone and hurts no one. The idea is to:

- help nonprofit organizations implement planned giving programs and spread the word about philanthropy ("Turning donors into benefactors")
- educate professional advisors about planned giving and philanthropy ("Making the ask; getting clients to do the right thing")
- promote planned giving and philanthropy to the general public ("Everyone can be a philanthropist")

LEAVE A LEGACY® accomplishes its mission by encouraging members of the general public to establish charitable gifts through their estate plans. The LEAVE A LEGACY® message is delivered through a multi-year public awareness campaign, implemented in local communities by a collaborative effort of fundraisers, donor advisors, charities and funders.
